Members of Alleghany Camp Will Attend Reunion.

Clifton Forge, Va., February 23.—The regular monthly meeting of Alleghany Camp, No. Ils, Contederate Voterans, was held Friday morning in the City Hall. Commander W. M. Swoope, of Lick Run, presided. The chief matter to be taken up by the camp was in making arrangements for the camp to attend the reunion of the Blue and Gray, which will be held at Gettysburg and which proved to be the turning point in the Civil War.

"with deadly intent" upon a man whose name is unknown. The feature of the case lies in the fact that the man, who is said to have been seriously injured at the hands of the four men, either cannot or is unwilling to be brought forward.

The men, who were indicted by a special grand jury last November, are Dr. R. C. Wharton, O. L. Fitzgerald, a rural mail carrier; G. W. Collie and William Wright, the latter two are said to be farmers, and are under $150 bonds for their appearance before the Superior Court which convenes in Wentworth this week.

Little is known of the facts surrounding the case, but rumor and the prevailing undercurpent of opinion have it that the trial will be sensational in every way, and while the alleged victim may not be present at the trial, it is said there are numerous witnesses who are to be called for the prosecution.

It is understood here that the young man was set upon by the four indicted men and was Inhumanly treated to such an extent that it was found necessary to transport him to Richmond, where, in a hospital, an operation had Virginia Relatives of Noted Kansas Democrat Invite Him on Visit.

Winchester, Va. February 22.—Edward F. Boxwell, the Kansas Democrat, who is to have his long suit of hair cut in Washington immediately after the oath of office is administered to Woodrow Wilson on March 4, in compliance with a vow made when W. J. Bryan was first defeated for the presidency that he would not be shorn of his locks until after the seating of a Democratic President, is a son of Virginia parents, and he has a large number of uncles, sunts, first cousins and other family connections in Winchester and Frederlek, and Clarke Counties. In a letter received from him a few days ago by relatives here. Mr. Boxwell states that he will visit the home place of his parents while in the East. Efforts are being made to induce him to come to Winchester before the hair-cutting contractor begins work on the loyal Democrat from Kansas, and should he accept the numerous invitations extended by Winchester kinsmen, there will be a round of dinner parties and family reunions among the Boxwell clan. Mr. Boxwell is also a first cousin of Stephen D. McDonald, a well-known hotel manager of this city, and the latter has arranged to attend the hair cutting in Washington, and also to assist his now noted relatives in celebrating the great Democratic victory in Washington.

Farmers Utilize Splendid Weather to Do Early Plowing.

Norfolk. Va., February 22.—The remarkable weather that this section of the country has experienced during the winter months has not been allowed to go by without some opportunes work by the farmers. The open season in January and February was well-tuilized by those farmers who have learned not to trust the early spring months too far, and as a result many an acre of land has been fallowed and is ready for early planting.

W. P. Crumpacker, of Botetourt County, one of the prosperous farmers of this section, and a keen observer as well, when in the city recently, commented on the plowing at this season of the year than he had ever as left that there was more plowed ground at this season of the year than he had ever as left that there was more plowed ground at this season of the year than he had ever as the force. The condition of the fields, he sald, would do credit to the middle of April. It is certain that if other conditions are the first of the farmers will be able to get their crops into the ground in record time, and will not be delayed by late plowing.

Public Service Corporation May Carry Out Its Plans. Lexington, Vd., February 23.—News comes from the region just below Goshen that John W. Bell, who secured the options on lauds on Big and Little Caif Pasture Rivers for the Public Service Corporation, is securing an extension of those options, which will soon expire. The Public Service Corporation, it will be The Public Service Corporation, it will be recalled, secured these options six months ago with the view of having a storage basin for an electric power plant in Goshen Pass. Itigation then followed with the Goshen Power Company, over a question of water rights. The decision of Judge Holt, of the Circuit Court of Rockbridge, some weeks ago in favor of the Goshen Power Company, was thought to have eliminated the Public Service Corporation as a factor in power development in Goshen Pass. The view was expressed that no appeal would be taken by them to the higher court, and that they would let options on the storage site expire. But the action of Mr. Bell, as their agent, shows they have no such purpose. In renewing options they are necessarily in curring some expense.

Saitville, Va. February 23.—The residents of the Valley near Saitville, known as Tumbling Creek, became very much alarmed over the appearance of a panther in their neighborhood, and after a number of unsuccessful attempts to capture the intruder, they called upon the chief of hunters, J. R. Perfater, who obtained the assistance of the noted hunter, Patrick Henry, of Ohlo. These two departed for the scene armed with heavy guns and plenty to eat. After reaching the scene of the animal's operations they learned that the supposed panther was merely two small boys posted on opposite hills with whistles made from wood. So they returned, leaving the Inhabitants very much relieved. Now the joke is, "Who caught the panther?"

With the letter of instruction Secretions of the composed of chloral and gum dentally got hold of a bottle of liniment composed of chloral and gum camphor, and gave her five teaspoonfuls in some orange juice. Mrs. Hamilton soon discovered the mistake and told her husband that he had given her the wrong medicine These were the last words that she ever spoke.

Mr. Hamilton went at once to Dr. Wallace, and, with the assistance of Dr. W. H. Anderson, the father of the young woman, who had been summoned, they did everything possible to save the patient's life, but it was too save the patient's life, but it was too late, and she died in thirty minutes.

Mr. Hamilton is distracted over the terrible mistake and has the sympathy of the entire community. He came

MASONS TO ERECT BUILDING.

Growth in Membership Makes Larger Quarters Necessary.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]

Scottsville, Va., February 23.—A valuable lot on Main Street has been bought by Scottsville Ledge, No. 45, A. F. and A. M., upon which will be erected a handsome brick lodge building. This is an exceedingly prosperous lodge, and the membership has increased so rapidly within the past few years that it has become necessary to move into larger quarters.

The School Improvement League gave an interesting 'Book Party' at the high school auditorium Friday evening. The attendance and interest manifested were most gratifying, and the proceeds satisfactory. The amount realized will be used towards improving and beautifying the school building. Mrs. J. Kent Dickinson won the prize for having guessed the largest number of hooks represented.

D. H. Pitts has announced himself a candidate to represent the County of Albenarle and the city of Charlottesville in the lower branch of the Legislature. Mr. Pitts has served several terms in the House, and was a member of the Finance Committee.

Since the hunting season has passed many lovers of the sport have turned their attention to the hook and line, Hardware River, which runs near the town, contains an abundant supply of "flatbacks," and hundreds of these lish are being caught. Growth in Membership Makes Larger Quarters Necessary.

Becomes Resident Physician at Mountain View Sanatorium.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Catawba. Va., February 22.—Dr. Lee
J. Hammett, the newly elected resident physician at Mountain View Sanatorium, has entered upon his duties at this institution. Dr. Hammett is a graduate from the Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia, and has served in the Orthopedic Hospital. Philadelphia, under the famous Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, and also in the Allegheny General Hospital, of Pittsburgh, besides having had a year's experience at Dr. Trudeau's Adirondack Cottage Sanatorium. Dr. Hammett is well-known to the profession in Richmond.

The fact that Mountain View Sanatorium has always made a specialty of accommodating the Catawba State Sanatorium waiting list, makes the place a valuable adjunct to the organized tuberculosis work in Virginia, and practically insures prompt treatment for those who are in need of it.
